

Hello, my name is Stella Atanasova and I'm 31 years old. I was born in Blagoevgrad, where I graduated my bachelor's degree as an English translator and ethnologist. This helped me to form my professional qualities and competences, based on a completely developed theoretical and practical experience in the English language.

During the next 5 years I have lived in the USA and in England. As a result of this cultural exchange, I can now put into practice the English language purposefully and of full value. Becoming a teacher is my conscious decision, which I have realized with my master's degree in this field. Despite the fact, that to work as a teacher is demanding, requiring patience, consistency and many skills, my main purpose is to help my students to achieve their goals, which brings me inner sense of happiness. My experience and principles of morality refer to my methods and educational practices.

I define myself as a very responsible, highly motivated, energetic, adaptive, and careful person. I am dedicated to my family in my free time. I am keen on travelling, reading, but during the winter season I adore snowboarding.

Endless happiness and pride is the opportunity to be a part of such well-known company as Training Centre Raya – London.
